Parish Church of St Botolph's - May 2023

RECTOR'S LETTER - REV'D JEREMY TREW - Jeremy writes...

Dear All

The songs and celebrations of Easter are still ringing in my mind as I write this magazine entry for May. I wonder how we will be living out our calling as “Easter People” by the time this makes it to print? It was wonderful and moving to walk the story of Holy Week with so many of you once again. My grateful thanks to all who made the great variety of services happen and those who served behind the scenes to clean and prepare for these celebrations.

It was good also to draw our Lent courses to a close. Several groups met across the Team, each with its distinctive purpose. Feedback was positive, and I hope that we have done more than merely entertain, as we sought to deepen that call God makes on all Christians to be disciples. We are called to know and understand our faith better that we might live it more effectively for the good of all and the glory of God. As a Team we will be looking to offer further opportunities for groups to get together and do just that. Let's not wait until next Lent!

Of course, May brings with it the celebrations of the Ascension and Pentecost. These great festivals work, with Easter, to herald the model of Church intended by God. At Easter the power of sin and death is destroyed. At Ascension Jesus returns to the Father, having instructed and enthused his followers. At Pentecost the Holy Spirit comes that the Church may have the power and authority that was once vested in Christ so that it may continue in God's work. This positions the Church, not as an assembly in waiting for God to act and us to follow, but as the dynamic instrument of God at work in this world. So, what should we turn our energy and focus to. True, we may not have all the resources we would like. We may feel we could do with some more volunteers. But I am sure that we have both all the people and all the resources to do whatever God would have us be doing right now; to be disciples and to make disciples and to pray, “thy kingdom come.”

Yours Jeremy

Speedwatch

For about 8 years now, a team of volunteers from the village have contributed their time and efforts to try to mitigate the speed of traffic through Hadstock. You may well have noticed that the volume of traffic is growing and though the Parish Council managed to get a 'Speed Warning' Vehicle activated sign installed on the Walden Road about 5 years ago, it is clear that some drivers continue flagrantly to exceed the 30mph limit. Efforts to get Essex Highways to take more speed-limiting measures have not yielded any results so far.

In this situation the role of Speedwatch is more important than ever. For those unfamiliar with the scheme, the Police train volunteers (from villages like ours) to operate safely in Hi-Viz jackets by the side of the road and they provide a speed camera which detects the speed of moving cars. We record the details of those cars where the speed is over 35mph (recommended by the Police) and send the info to a central Police co-ordinator and the Police then write a warning letter to the miscreant. Further repeat instances are pursued more vigorously.

Now, of course, Speedwatch cannot operate constantly (we tend to operate for an hour once a week) and we are fully aware that this scheme is not a magic wand that will stop the speeding problem in its tracks - however it is clear that a regular Speedwatch presence does have an impact in improving the safety of Hadstock residents and we are determined that it will be maintained.

I would like to thank all those volunteers who have continued to play a part - and I'd also like to ask for more people who can be added to the available pool - especially as the better weather and longer days means more flexibility. Even if you can only contribute (say) an hour once a month - we'd be delighted to hear from you!

Please contact me if you are interested.

Thank you. Cllr Keith Nuttall

Time to get walking again!

With Spring on its way, we start to think about getting out to walk in the beautiful English countryside again, but where to find new and interesting walks?

Walking in Essex <https://www.walkinginengland.co.uk/essex> has loads of walks to download and print, free, it also has books of walks, details of all the walking groups in the county and much more. Whether you want to walk on your own or with a group all the information is there in one place.

John Harris (who maintains the website) said 'There is so much walking information on the web but it is difficult to find. Walking in Essex (part of the Walking in England website) has brought it together in one place so whether you are walking from home, or away on holiday, you will be able to find a walk suitable for you'.

With walks from half a mile to twelve miles plus long, and a note of suitability for pushchairs and wheelchairs, everyone can find a walk to enjoy.

Home or away, check out the websites and get walking!

50 Years of the Hadstock Society

By Richard Dolby

2012 -2022

In this period, the Society's work was greatly influenced by two Millennium Celebrations associated with Cnut of Denmark becoming King of England for 18 years; the Battle of Assandun in 1016, thought by some experts to have been fought near Hadstock, and the consecration of Cnut's minster in 1020, again thought by some specialists to be St Botolph's church. The Society supported both these major events and initiated new research into historic documents relating to the battle. Crocky, in a published paper in the Saffron Walden Historical Journal 2002, had placed it in Hadstock's Red Field.

Information on the discovery of many skeletons during the 1862 construction of Red Field's railway cutting was found in 1888 Kelly's directory. Some indications suggesting several burial pits were seen from a geophysical survey of Red Field in 2015 which was funded by a grant to the Society. However, later in 2019, after a limited ground excavation, no physical evidence of historic burials was found.

Red Field where many skeletons were found in 1863 associated with the railway

New evidence emerged in 2019 that a 14th century wayside cross near Saffron Walden could be linked to Assandun and Crocky updated her earlier paper on the Battle with an Essex Journal publication in Spring 2022. In late 2021, the Society became a team member of a new Essex Battlefields Trust Project studying the site of the Battle of Assandun. All candidate battle sites in Essex are represented on the team, and it is hoped this joint approach will make progress. The project may not complete until 2024.

The computer played a major role in the Society's activities from 2017 onwards, and several new projects were initiated involving digital recording and illustration of the history and heritage of the Parish.

The Society had previously joined the Essex Place names project, aimed at the local recording of historic map names and related information, and stimulating further research. However significant progress was only made when computer spreadsheets were employed to capture and analyse the data. The two local maps chosen for the project were those associated with the Hadstock Parish Inclosure Act of 1801, both available from the Essex Records Office in digitised form.

Between 2017-2022, and led by Rick Albrow, all place names, and their grid reference, type, value, area and owner/tenant, as seen both from the pre- and post-inclosure maps and the Inclosure Award document itself, were recorded by the Society. The spreadsheet, which contains well over 200 place name entries, is now available for future research.

Hadstock Village in 1877, one of many illustrations created to show landscape changes in the Parish over the last 250 years

In 2020-2022, over 100 digital maps were created by the Society to illustrate the history of the Parish landscape from 1777 to the present day. Electronically traced from 6 published online maps of NW Essex, these show the changes over 250 years in the Parish boundary, roads, woods, paths, fields and field systems, and the Parish built environment, including houses, barns, the Gt Eastern Railway line (opened in 1865), and the USAAF airfield (opened in 1942). The digital maps are now available as individual prints for exhibition, PowerPoint presentations with explanatory text, booklets and three separate website presentations.

Many of the St Botolph's Millennium celebration events in 2020 were affected by a COVID 19 outbreak, and some funds from the Millennium Group, led by the Revd Paula Griffiths, were diverted to create a Parish digital archive. Designed by Nextnorth and the Hadstock Society, a new community archive website, separate from the main Parish website, came into being, and the Society uploaded nearly 200 posts into 12 main sections, including over 100 digitised photographs, along with many historic and contemporary documents and some videos. The archive website can be found at archive.hadstock.org.uk

One of the uploads was a flip book titled 'Hadstock through the Centuries'. Originally written by Pat Croxton-Smith as a series of Hadstock magazine articles between 2008 and 2016, it was edited by a Society team to create a single paper with Appendices. It presents Crocky's unrivalled knowledge of the history of the Parish from pre-history to modern times.

To help celebrate the millennium of St Botolph's church in 2020, the Parish produced another 'Domesday' booklet recording residents and their houses. The Hadstock Society contributed £1000 to the booklet production.

Planning applications continued to be reviewed in this period, typically 10 per year, and the Society revised its Constitution twice, the first time in 2014 principally because the Civic Society had gone into administration, and the second time in 2021, to take account of improvements in administration of the Society, including online working.

Hamish McIlwrick led the Society during much of this decade in which membership remained around 60, and he focused particularly on planning matters, networking extensively in the local region to make Hadstock issues clear to all.

A Hadstock Society 50-year celebration event

7.30pm Wednesday, 10th May, Village Hall – free entry

An Evening with Crocky

Come and enjoy Crocky's views on her 60 years in Hadstock. She will recall her time with the State Veterinary Investigation Service, her veterinary research for Jock Dawson in Hadstock, and her involvement in the Parish through work for the Parish Council, the Parochial Church Council, and the Hadstock Society. She will explain her extraordinary passion for local history and talk about some of her many memories of village life.

Everyone welcome. Refreshments after the talk.

Close of evening 9.30pm

A letter from Lorraine Walker.

I find it extraordinary that, given that only 0.005% of the global population visit Antarctica, 3 people from Hadstock have! I too visited Antarctica and South Georgia last November. Not on the same expedition as John and Russell.

My passion is seeing animals in their natural environment so my main reason for going was to see the penguins, especially chin strap and King penguins, and to experience dramatic natural landscapes.

I wasn't disappointed. It was awesome walking amongst the penguins. What wasn't so awesome was being chased by an Elephant seal...also there were sadly 2 fatalities when a rogue wave upturned one of the zodiacs...the first in 9 years. The expedition team were awesome so 6 other lives were saved. The sea can indeed be cruel.

I am now planning a trip to the spirit bears in British Columbia, if any of you have been please let me know!

CAKE AND PRODUCE STALL AT HADSTOCK FETE 17TH JUNE

This year we hope to be able to sell local produce as well as cakes, biscuits and sweet treats. This could include honey, jam, vegetables, fruit and small bunches of flowers.

So please could you think of the CAKE AND PRODUCE STALL when you are planting and growing in the coming weeks.

Many thanks

Kirsty Hutchinson

Happy purchasers of an auction lot JUNE 2022 fete.

At the fete last year, I purchased with my niece's husband Robbie, a package donated to the fete by the Hutchinson family this included tickets to attend a rugby match with the Northampton Saints. Also in the deal was a Saints rugby shirt and rugby ball, claimed by the youngster of our duo.

We attended the match this month (April) to see the Saints versus Saracens who are leading the league. After an exciting match with our local hero Rory Hutchinson scoring one of the tries our team won 38-29.

We had an exciting day and at the end of the match Rory, who is a Scottish international player, took us to meet another player, Lewis Ludlam the Saints captain and England international.

The atmosphere at the ground was very friendly with both sets of supporters in good humour.

I would like to thank the Hutchinsons for a great day out.

With the 2023 fete coming soon, there are sure to be more experiences to buy, so please support the auction. I am certain you will not be disappointed we had a memorable day with an experience we probably would not have been able to purchase anywhere else.

Tusker (Nanny)& Malteser

MALTESER

Some of you will remember Malteser, the lamb I and Tusker hand reared two years ago, after her mother rejected her. Malteser is now the proud mother of twin lambs, Opal and Omega. (below)

We had a successful week lambing, resulting in 7 sets of twins and a single lamb. Their names are Otto and Olive, Oberon and Titania, Odile and Odette, Olympia, Orca and Ocho, Osprey and Oyster, Obi (Wan Konobi) and Onyx and the youngest Opal and Omega.

My flock are Shetland sheep, a small native breed that originates from the Shetland Islands. They are very hardy and easy to handle, so they are able to lamb in the field and seldom need any assistance 🐏 Shetland sheep come in many different colours, black, brown, grey, white, moorit, fawn - and many different markings.

Opal is the first white lamb I have bred in years. Wool from Shetland Sheep is used to make lace, Fair Isle knitwear and tweed, and of course as a base for my mother's felted birds. Lou Symes Thompson
